One of the ways this report really helped me identify is why my last role was so unsatisfying to me.

It will definitely help me target more satisfying work and to examine new opportunities to make sure they contain more of what fits my natural talents and tendencies for me to be happy and successful.

I think it will not only help me find the right kinds of roles but will be useful in the interview process as I have a clearer understanding of my strengths.

While there was a lot to this set of exercises, it really helps provide some meaningful insights into myself and what I need in my life, either work or elsewhere to feel fulfilled.
